How to set up your e-mail on Android

 E-mail  Created on August 14, 2026  Updated on October 4, 2026  1 min read Set your e-mail up once on Android and it keeps syncing in the background, on Wi-Fi or mobile data.

Setting it up

- 1 Open the E-mail app on your device (or your preferred mail app) and choose to add a new account.
- 2 When asked for the provider, choose Other / Manual setup - not Gmail, since this is not a Google mailbox.
- 3 Enter your full e-mail address and password, then choose IMAP as the account type (recommended - it keeps your messages synced across every device).
- 4 Fill in the incoming and outgoing server details exactly as below.

Setting	Incoming (IMAP)	Outgoing (SMTP)
Server	mail.yourdomain.co.mz - replace with your own domain
Port	993	465
Security	SSL/TLS	SSL/TLS

Username: your full e-mail address - Password: the mailbox password you set in cPanel (not your portal or cPanel password).

- 5 Confirm, give the account a name if asked, and finish setup.

If the app offers a security option, choose SSL/TLS - never "None". This server does not accept unencrypted connections on these ports.
